This week we have been learning...

This week, in our writing, we have written a setting description using adjectives and similes. We have understood why we write blurbs and written one for our class book "The Butterfly Lion". We have used boxing up to list the features and purpose of a persuasive letter. We have then been able to use this to write a persuasive letter.

In Maths, we have started to learn about fractions. We have been able to recognise what is meant by equal, finding half of an amount or object and finding a quarter of an amount or object.

In our inquiry ' My mystery circus' we have looked at food chains. In art we have learnt about shading/ pointillism. We have used these skills to re design the front cover of "The Butterfly Lion" We have been able to discuss the importance of stain glass windows and what they teach us. We have then used this as inspiration to create our own stained glass window about a memorable moment in our life.
